To Whom It May Concern:

My name is Richard Hofman and I am director of Chatsworth Pavilion, a private and unique residential addictions treatment program in Montreal, Quebec, Canada.

I write this letter to confirm that Mrs. Lena Stenberg has, since our first encounter in 2007, completed over 150 hours of training and coaching by me personally. Furthermore Mrs. Stenberg has been authorized to incorporate some of our unique intellectual property and methodology into her addiction treatment program offered at her center Kvinnohemmet Rosen.

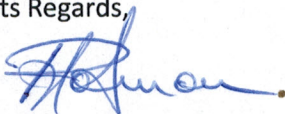

A corner stone of our treatment philosophy is the construct of 4 Core Addictions, being Security, Control, Sensation and Suffering. This component allows us to treat chemical dependencies and also process addictions at a core level. At Chatsworth we believe that unless a client identifies the behaviors attached to their exaggerated and unmanageable need for security, control, sensations and suffering (manifested through self-sabotage and crisis creating) the client's need to medicate with addictive substances or dependencies remains high and the client will have a higher risk for relapse.

The second integral component to our treatment modality as is the use of our copy-write protected "Life Management System" a version of which you can purchase as an APP for iPhones and iPads from the Apple APP store called "Daily Recovery Manager".

Mrs. Stenberg was given permission to incorporate both of these key components into her residential programs and has received the training and support to properly integrate them into her program.

Richard Hofman, Director
